

Product information

Stuff Design design and produce a wide range of wooden products, and for the production we use two types of high quality wood; Acacia and Sheeham.

Acacia wood

The Acacia wood is a light-colored strong hardwood, that is moderately heavy and have a nice look, with its eye-catching color and straight/wavy grain pattern.

The most popular type of Acacia wood in India is the one obtained from the thorny Babul tree.

Acacia trees are fast-growing and survive well in tropical regions all over the world.

The Acacia wood has good resistance to water and climatic changes, therefore it is well suited for serving-/ and cutting boards.

Acacia wood is not an endangered species, as it is very fast growing, and do therefore not require special certificates to use it in production or for export.

For more information please contact us on info@stuffdesign.dk or on phone +45 8827 1707.

Facts

- Produced in India
- Light colour
- Strong hardwood
- Handmade
- Not endangered
- Foodsafe
- Unique design

Our Acacia products are tested and foodsafe approved for use in Europe.

VAT 28699131	SEE www.stuffdesign.dk	WRITE info@stuffdesign.dk	TALK (+45) 8827 1707
FIND Stuff – design of Scandinavia ApS, Krogsagervej 50, DK-7000 Fredericia.			