

Product information - leather aprons

Stuff Design have designed a range of exclusive leather aprons, which are hand-made in Holland

The raw leather used is imported from India, and are hereafter tanned at Dutch LWG (www.leatherworkinggroup.com) certified tanneries.

LWG is a non profit organization who certify and advise tanneries who want a more green profile and production, and who want to use the most environment friendly method for tanning of leather.

Among the founders of LWG we find; Adidas, Ikea, Nike, Marks & Spencer and Timberland.

In accordance with LWG the leather is vegetable tanned without use of chrome, which makes them very environment friendly.

All our aprons in this range are coated with wax to give them a vintage/used look, and also it protects the leather from stains

These aprons are of very high quality and are super soft in a raw, vintage and masculine look, and are exclusively designed by Stuff Design

This range consists of following item numbers; LA-12280A, B, C, D and E
